Spring is coming – but in the meantime....

No doubt we are all tired of the record cold temperatures that make it impossible to play golf in Kansas right now. Sometimes we can get in that rare January or February round of golf, but not too often so far this year. Regardless of the cold there are still some interesting items on the Kansas golf scene to report:

Don Cox, former KGA champion and player-of-the-year who lives at Lake Quivira, sent the following link to the KGO earlier this month. Bald Eagles who nest and spend much of their days over at the nearby Kansas River have discovered some fun and intriguing round white objects on the ice at the lake. Take a look!

Steve Groom, the 2013 Kansas Senior Amateur champion, is keeping his golf skills in good shape this winter. He travelled to Naples, Florida in January and won the Society of Seniors 54-hole event at Gateway Golf and Country Club. His 72-74-74-220 score was three strokes better than runner-up Jack Bracken. Congratulations, Steve!

Cory Proehl is now in place as the head golf professional at Topeka Country Club. Cory comes from Colorado Springs where he was the head golf professional at Kissing Camels at Garden of the Gods. He is an Peoria, Illinois native and a graduate of Bradley University. Blake Graham makes a career move from Hallbrook Country Club where he was an assistant gol pro to Manhattan Country Club where he will bring his playing/teaching

APPLIANCES & MORE

Kansas Golf Association members,
You may have heard about the new South Central PGA Golf Pass offering up to 73 free rounds of golf in Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma for just $49.95. One that also offers rare access to some of the finest private clubs in a three-state area.
If not, we invite you to log on to www.scsppgagolfpass.com and look over all the deals for yourself.
The free and discounted rounds are real. PGA Professionals throughout the section have come together to support a book that benefits the PGA Foundation and its programs for junior golf and growth-of-the-game initiatives. So get your buddies together and a tank of gas and enjoy some tremendous golf.
In Kansas you'll find offers from Auburn Hills, Brent Bruehl, Reflection Ridge, Sand Creek Station, Terradyne CC and Willow Creek among others. Great offers in Oklahoma and Arkansas are right across the border.
